DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-27 and 51-62, drawn to a gaming method, classified in class 463, subclass 27.
  - II. Claims 63-77, drawn to a gaming device, classified in class 463, subclass 16.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I (method) and II (device) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). For example, in the instant case the method may be practice with a materially different product. That is, the method may not require a primary game of chance “apparatus” and a bonus game of chance “apparatus”.
3. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:
  - (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;

- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of an invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species groups:

- a. Species Group A – Type of Primary Game
  - Species A-1: A Card Game (e.g., see Fig. 1, see exemplary claim 13)
  - Species A-2: A Slot Game (e.g., see Fig. 9; see exemplary claim 18)
    - Sub-Species Group B – Type of Card Game
      - Sub-Species B-1: A live card game (see exemplary claim 15)
      - Sub-Species B-2: A virtual card game (see exemplary claim 16)
    - Sub-Species Group C - Type of Slot Game
      - Sub-Species C-1: An electro-mechanical slot with cylindrical reels that are rotatable (see exemplary claim 19)
      - Sub-Species C-2: A virtual slot with virtual reels (see exemplary claim 20)
- b. Species Group D – Type of Progressive Jackpot
  - Species Group D-1: Jackpot based on a percentage of total amount of the wagers placed (see exemplary claim 2)
  - Species Group D-2: Jackpot is time-based (see exemplary claim 3)

5. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

6. After electing either Invention I (method) or Invention II (device), Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species (species 1 or 2) from each of Species Groups A and D and, based on the election with Species Group A, elect one species from either Sub-Species Group B or C, for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. That is, a proper election will include four elections. For example, a proper election may elect Invention I (method), Species A-1 (card game), Species B-2(virtual card game), and Species D-2 (time based jackpot). In this example, Applicant need not elect from Sup-Species Group C, because Species A-2 was not elected. Currently, claims 1, 51, and 63 appear to be generic.

7. There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

8. A telephone call was not made to request an oral election for this restriction requirement, because the restriction requirement is considered “complex” (i.e., having a plurality of elections) and, therefore would not likely have resulted in an oral election over the phone (see M.P.E.P. 812.01).

9. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.
